

Global Missions Service

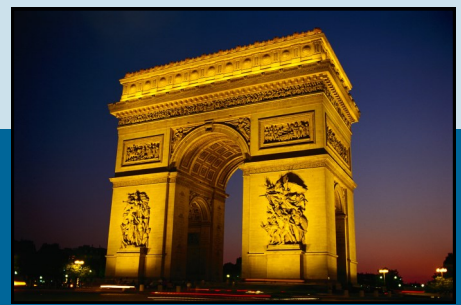

Nowacki John and Anne

When appointed as missionaries in 1976, the Nowackis were European immigrants living in Canada. Arriving in France in October 1977, they settled in Melun, on the outskirts of Paris. Their initial congregation of four has now grown to over 400. John serves as president of the UPC of France. He and Anne also oversee the translation of French literature as well as direct the Bible school.
