

Global Missionaries At
Our Church On

NEW ZEALAND

The Addingtons were commissioned UPCI missionaries to New Zealand in 1984. During the first twelve years they pastored the church in Christchurch and starting several other works in neighboring communities as well as a Bible school. In 1998 they moved to Hamilton, North Island, started the Christian College of Theology and pastored the local church. Eventually they were able to purchase the headquarters building which is now also used for Bible school, ACE day school, a Fijian work, an Indian work, and national functions. Their continued ministry will focus on teaching leaders, solidifying churches and helping to establish new works throughout the country.

