Biography

Having been missionaries for the past twenty-five years, Louis and Martha Johnson have worked many facets of missionary ministry in Africa. They started their ministry in Kenya teaching in the Bible school and seminars throughout the country. After traveling into neighboring Uganda to help pioneer the work, they seemed the natural choice to serve as furlough replacements there. They have also served as furlough replacements in the African island nation of Reunion. Their current missionary ministry centers in Ethiopia and Rwanda where Louis serves as superintendent of both works.
