

Happy New Year

“Behold, the former things have come to pass, now I declare new things...” Is.42:9

Few things in life bring out human frailty like missionary life. Missionaries don't come equipped with superpowers or capes. We're no different than anyone else who's on a journey of daily obedience and reliance on God.

You may be relying on Him as you navigate life as a teacher, an architect, a pastor, a parent or a retired accountant. No matter the context, we're all just people learning together what it means to follow Jesus.

Jesus calls all of His people to bring the gospel to the ends of the earth whether through going, training and equipping, praying and/or giving. You're called a "partner" for a reason: you're truly a teammate, a critical part of the ministry in Russia and Estonia!

THANK YOU!!

Making Disciples of All Men

Matthew 28:19 "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations..."

We are thankful for Pastor Alexey's desire to share the Good News of Jesus with everyone he meets. He recently taught a Bible Study to the young man pictured above. A Spanish speaking young man was baptized recently in Moscow and many visitors have attended Sunday services in Moscow, Russia
