Biography

The Siscos began their missionary journeys individually under the Associate In Missions (AIM) program in 1996 (Nick-Ghana) and 1998 (Pam-Botswana). They married in 2000 and received full missionary appointment to Ghana in 2002. Training is their passion!

Brother Sisco enjoys teaching at the Bible school and in different leadership training environments. As Missionary Coordinator, Brother Sisco enjoys working with the different mission teams that come to Ghana and feels blessed by the opportunity to mentor AIMers. He also serves as the president of the Bible school as well as the Africa representative for Global Association of Theological Studies (GATS). Sister Sisco is the Children's Ministry Director and teaches at the Bible school and other training seminars. She also homeschools their two amazing MKs, Allanah and Stephen.

When they return to the field, their vision is to expand the central Bible school and have at least one extension Bible school in each of the eight regions of Ghana. They desire to see apostolic revival and growth by extending training to every level of the church so more laborers can be equipped for the harvest.
